

Firm Hosts Columbus Day Weekend In the Adirondacks

October 24, 2008

Schoeman, Updike & Kaufman, LLP hosted a weekend retreat at Skenewood in Westport, NY. The gathering included attorneys, management staff and their families from both the New York and Chicago offices. The eventful weekend consisted of a tour of Camp Dudley, the oldest summer boy's camp in the United States in continuous operation, which was founded in 1885, and a boat tour of Lake Champlain where, through a high tech camera, underwater wreckages were visible. A private tour of the Lake Champlain Maritime Museum conducted by the Museum's Executive Director followed. The weekend closed with a softball game and a hike near Mt. Marcy, the highest peak in the Adirondacks.

Everyone enjoyed a weekend of great company and activities. We look forward to next year!
